

TP-Link Secondary Router China Telecom

Overview

US lawmakers are calling for an investigation into routers manufactured by Chinese-owned TP-Link Technologies and sold in the US - over concerns the company's WiFi devices can be used by China to launch state-sponsored hacking campaigns. Some lawmakers called. TP-Link is a major player in networking and wireless routers. According to The Wall Street Journal, the company commands a lion's share of the U. internet router market — 65% to be precise — but it is now facing scrutiny from multiple government agencies over national security risks. Established. On March 23rd, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) updated its Covered List to prohibit the sale of foreign made consumer-grade (WiFi) routers to be sold in the U. The FCC's Covered List is a list of communications equipment and services that are deemed to pose an unacceptable risk to the. The United States is pushing Chinese-produced routers off the shelf and onto a watchlist. Two House members sent a letter to US Commerce Secretary Gina.

TP-Link Secondary Router China Telecom

US lawmakers are calling for an investigation into routers manufactured by Chinese-owned TP-Link Technologies and sold in the US - over concerns the company's WiFi devices can be ...

TP-Link is one of the most popular router manufacturers in the US, but the company is facing a potential ban due to security concerns about its links to China.

On March 23, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) banned all foreign-produced routers from entering the United States, a sweeping restriction that predominantly targets ...

After facing intense scrutiny from several agencies for more than a year, the U.S. government is considering banning TP-Link routers outright, ...

After facing intense scrutiny from several agencies for more than a year, the U.S. government is considering banning TP-Link routers outright, courtesy of a proposal from the ...

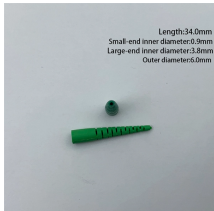

The U.S. is probing whether popular home internet routers sold by ...

U.S. Weighs Ban on Chinese made TP-Link router and China Telecom China backed Volt Typhoon has “pre-positioned” malware to disrupt U.S. critical infrastructure networks “on a scale ...

The U.S. is probing whether popular home internet routers sold by China's TP-Link Technologies threaten national security and considering whether they should be banned, the Wall ...

That investment, however, hinges on TP-Link receiving "conditional approval" from the FCC to exempt it from the foreign-made Wi-Fi router ban.

TP-Link, which might be banned due to alleged links to the Chinese government and its hackers, builds its routers in China, Vietnam, India, and Brazil.

Experience has shown that to be the best practice for handling security vulnerabilities.

The Department of Commerce reportedly subpoenaed TP-Link, and there are considerations to ban the sale of TP-Link routers in the U.S. due to national security risks.

Contact Us

For more information, pricing, or custom energy solutions, please contact us:

Website: <https://www.gdroofing.co.za>

Email: sales@gdroofing.co.za

Phone: +27 72 418 9365

Address: 22 Electron Avenue, Isando, Johannesburg, 1600, South Africa

This document is for informational purposes only. Specifications subject to change without notice.

